

Ceres rings the changes

The Peter Livanos-controlled Ceres group has appointed a new boss for its management arm CTM in Monaco.

Peter Livanos

The Greek group says John Michael Radziwill is the new CEO, replacing Gary Weston, who becomes head of DryLog, CTM's parent.

Ilias Iliopoulos, current CEO of DryLog, bags the new role of CEO at Ceres Shipping, the holding company for all the "Logs": BoxLog, DryLog, GasLog and TankLog.

"With the continued growth of both cargo demand and new ships in dry cargo, now is the time to further increase our activity in our trading companies and the right time for John Michael to take on this new challenge" said Weston.

Radziwill has been with CTM for five years and over the last year has been working closely with Weston in preparation for the role.

CTM is the commercial manager for C Transport Cape Size (CTC), C Transport Panamax (CTP), DBCN Corporation, Freight Trading Ltd (FTL), CBC Lda, Carras and DryLog Bulkcarriers.

It operates about 85 vessels ranging from supramaxes to capesizes and employs 60 people.

CTM is also active in the offshore marine handling sector via its partnership in Swire CTM Bulk Logistics.

By Gary Dixon in London